Astro Everywhere with Josh Roberts

Josh Roberts will take you on a journey through the wonders of Astro Everywhere. Whether you are a space geek or just curious, this talk is perfect for anyone who loves to look up and wonder.

A critical component of my work is establishing an individual's connection to the shared heritage of astronomy - and no one knows someone better than one knows oneself. It is critical to let the public build and share their experiences and understanding of the sky in a welcoming environment. This allows them to address long-held beliefs or understanding without the anxiousness that can all too often accompany it.
